Refining & Petrochemical Asia 2019 is Co-Located with the Digital themed “Asian Downstream Summit (ADS)”, and together, they make up Asia’s largest oil & gas downstream technology tradeshow, with the ultimate aim to be THE largest oil & gas technology tradeshow in the world.

Refining & Petrochemical Asia provides a forum for refiners and petrochemical players to meet and share information on the technological advances that affect the design, operation, and maintenance of FCC units. The conference provide insights into refining and petrochemical technology, innovations and project updates that can help drive your business forward and improve your day-to-day operations.

The program includes technical presentations, case studies and gripping panel discussions. Refining & Petrochemical Asia aims to address real problems and issues refiners face in their plants and provides an opportunity for delegates to sort through potential solutions in a discussion with panelists and other attendees.

“We are proud to see the growth of Asian Downstream Summit (historically Downstream Asia) into a leading tradeshow and go-to place for the refining & petrochemical community. Refining & Petrochemical Asia is a natural fit to ADS and will focus on core refining & petrochemical technologies.

The shows together will provide two full days of networking and top class learning in best practices, which support our attendees in gaining new insights and maintaining their competitive skills set to stay abreast of the game”. –
